

Year 10 Curriculum Intent for French

At Dixons Cottingley we develop students to lead successful and happy lives and make a positive contribution to their community. Our curriculum in each year is designed to provide experiences, opportunities, knowledge and skills that enrich and challenge our students. We understand that the curriculum is key to determining the life chances and choices for our students and therefore we will not compromise on providing the very best. We achieve this in French through the below:

By the end of Year 10 students at Dixons Cottingley studying French will be exposed to the following:

- The majority of the GCSE French course content, skills, vocabulary and practise assessments.
- The importance of learning languages and an appreciation of different countries, cultures and communities.
- Opportunities to explore the benefits of languages in different areas of employment and leisure.
- The different tenses with their grammatical structures in the different persons, alongside an exposure to more complex sentence constructions using different tenses and structures such as negatives, comparatives, superlatives and pronouns.
- A gradual increase in the level of linguistic and cognitive demand promoting an independent, creative and more complex use of the language.
- A variety of authentic French texts (in both written and oral formats).
- Aspects of the culture and festivals of France and La Francophonie (French speaking countries).

By the end of Year 10 students at Dixons Cottingley studying French will be taught the following knowledge and skills:

- Students will continue to develop the ability to pronounce words correctly in French with increasing confidence, fluency and excellent pronunciation as they continue to practise and apply French phonics.

- Students will also learn about the culture of France and French speaking countries. In Year 10 students will be able to:
  - understand similarities and differences to marriage & relationships in France compared to the UK
  - understand and describe the main festivals across France and French speaking countries
  - name a number of French dishes

- o name a variety of French charities.

In order to truly appreciate the subject and create deep schema, French has been sequenced with the following rationale:

- At the beginning of year 10 we will address some misconceptions students have in respect to language learning, reinforcing the importance of speaking languages into today's global society.
- Year 10 will start with a focus on revising key content and grammar taught in KS3 and year 9.
- Students will go on to learn more about identity and culture in studying and describing family relationships and expressing their thoughts and ideas on marriage.
- As the scheme develops, students will be able to describe family celebrations and make a reservation at a sports centre.
- In the second cycle, students will learn about healthy living including the advantages and disadvantages of playing sports, how to eat healthily and avoid vices such as drugs and alcohol. Students will have the opportunity reflect on what they consider to be the most healthiest lifestyles as well as further develop their writing, reading, speaking and listening skills.
- The scheme of learning is sequenced to allow students to build on expressing advantages and disadvantages started in Year 9 and well as revising key content from previous topics through interleaving and spaced repetition.
- In the final cycle, students will consider more global issues such as the environment and ethical shopping. By the end of this unit all students will sit a full French GCSE mock to give students the whole experience of taking a MFL GCSE.
- During the course of Year 10, frequent reference will be made to Famous French people, French companies and La Francophonie to learn more about different cultural practices and customs. Students will have regular formative assessments to assess their progress and competency in all key skills.

The French curriculum at Cottingley has been influenced by:

- The latest research developed by NCELP and Dixons MFL Hub
- The calendar of French customs & festivals
- The AQA GCSE specification.

Our French curriculum ensures that social disadvantage is addressed through:

- Disadvantaged students will follow the same curricular pathway as it is important that they are provided with access to the same body of French knowledge and cultural capital. They will be supported through quality first teaching and intervention and support as required. The use of French regalia, authentic texts and resources will help their engagement and progress.
- SEN students follow the same curricular pathway as it is important that they are provided with access to the same body of French knowledge. This is supported through clearly differentiated teaching which will include a multi-sensory approach.

Our belief is that homework is used for deliberate practice of what has been taught in lessons. All students have the opportunity to deepen their linguistic and cultural knowledge by accessing a range of online resources through the French GCSE Padlet site. We also use retrieval practice and spaced revision to support all students with committing knowledge to long term memory. This will be supported in year 10 by a common framework of learning and understanding, which includes weekly vocabulary tests. Commitment to memory of key knowledge will primarily be supported through the interspacing of knowledge, with regular retrieval practice and interleaving previously taught content into new content throughout the course.

Opportunities to build an understanding of social, moral and ethical issues are developed alongside links to the wider world, including careers, through:

1. Equipping students with systematic and powerful knowledge about the French language and culture so that they are able to understand other cultures and value diversity.
2. Developing confident individuals who can increasingly express themselves positively and confidently in a foreign language.
3. Enabling students to recognise the importance of languages in order to help guide and develop citizens who make a positive contribution to an inclusive, multi-lingual and multi-cultural society. Students will be frequently introduced to possible jobs with languages.
4. Giving students the opportunity to be reflective about their own home spoken languages and how they can use their natural linguistic skills in a new foreign language.
5. Presenting the opportunity to understand and appreciate the different French customs and festivals as well as the range of cultural influences that have shaped France and La Francophonie.
6. Exploring similarities and differences between French and British society and values.
7. Supporting the learning in other curricular areas such as English, Geography, PSHE and Drama. English is supported through students acquiring a deep understanding of key grammatical terms and structures. PSHE is supported when studying and discussing opinions about relationships, marriage and ethical shopping. Geography is supported through the understanding of environmental issues facing our planet. Drama is supported through the use of role-plays / acting when speaking in French.

A true love of French is developed by teaching beyond the domain of the GCSE specification. Examples of such content:

- Debating if students are for or against marriage.
- Giving advice to others about leading a healthy lifestyle.
- Describing how our school could be more environmentally friendly.
- Reading for pleasure in French.
- Following personal interests in French e.g. football, music, cooking.
- Following famous French people on social media.
